

Technology M&A - Analyst

Package: £45k + Bonus

Location: London

Summary:

Highly regarded Technology focused Investment Bank with a remarkable performance record, require an Analyst for the London office.

Job description:

Following an exceptional year to date given the current climate, this high profile advisory firm are now seeking to expand the team in the London office.

This is an opportunity to work within an entrepreneurial and collegiate environment, where you will gain excellent transaction exposure working within small deal teams. You will have started your career at a global or highly regarded local investment bank and will ideally have worked on previous TMT transactions. First class analytical and quantitative skills are essential for this position. The firm focuses on the following sectors:

- Software and Services
- New/Digital Media
- Hardware
- Semiconductors

Candidates should have a fluency in at least one Scandinavian language alongside English and must display a natural interest in the Technology sector.

Reference: OW10541