Job description:

Established, Mid-market Investment Bank with a strong pedigree in the Technology sector, requires an experienced analyst or junior associate for the London office. The team is looking for an exceptional candidate who can bring not only technical ability and analytical strength, but also generate ideas and suggestions in conjunction with senior colleagues.

You will need to demonstrate a strong grasp of financial analysis, modelling and valuations and will ideally have demonstrable transaction experience. Strong communication skills and a degree of humility are essential for this position.

Candidates do not need to have worked within a Tech or TMT team previously, but must be able to demonstrate genuine enthusiasm and knowledge of the sector.
