Job description:

Leading Investment Bank with exceptional results in 2009, requires an associate to join the FIG Advisory Group in London. This role requires you to have previous deal experience and knowledge of the FIG sector.

The group has had an excellent year, advising on some of the landmark transactions within the financial services space. They are one of the top performing teams at the bank and have a superb reputation within the sector.

You will need to be an experienced M&A professional, with excellent analytical skills and a demonstrable track record within a well regarded FIG group at another firm. There is a good amount of head room within the group and you will get great exposure to leading transactions and assisting in origination.

A second European language would be beneficial.
