Job description:

New Private Equity fund, specialising in the oil and gas technology and services sector, requires an Associate for their London office. With excellent networks and financial backing in the Middle East, the fund is looking for additional support in advance of closing its first fund. This is an opportunity to join a small fund from its initiation and contribute across the entire investment cycle.

You will have completed at least three years at analyst or associate level within investment banking corporate finance, have a strong academic background and be efficient in building and presenting investment cases.

Although knowledge and experience within the energy sector is helpful, it is not mandatory.
